ORATORICAL ASSOCIATION

The Stetson Oratorical Association is the central literary organization in this University. It is the common ground upon which all Stetson literary societies meet. It is to the literary societies what the Athletic Association is to the various athletic teams. The Athletic Association fosters, sustains and stimulates the teams. But it does not dictate to the Coach how he shall coach; nor to the Captain how he shall lead his team.

Likewise the Oratorical Association fosters, supports and stimulates the literary work of Stetson University through the organized channels—through the literary societies. But it does not infringe upon the rights of any individual society. It does not dictate; as our federal government has only such powers as are specifically delegated to it, so it is with the Stetson Oratorical Association. The individual literary society pursues its regular work without molestation; it decides what it wants; it cares for the minutiae. It, by its regular work, prepares men and women for contests. The Oratorical Association arranges the contests that occur between departments or between any department of this University and other schools. The plan for arrangement is two-fold, viz:

1. Stated Annual Contests—Such as the Declamatory Contest for young women, the Oratorical Contest for young men, and the inter-department debate.

2. Contests that are arranged by the Oratorical Association in compliance with the request of some particular literary society.

The birth of the Oratorical Association is obscure. The oldest Students in Stetson can not illumine its beginning. Evidently the organization dates back to the early days of Stetson University. This much we do know, viz: (1) It is one of the most worthy organizations in school and (2) Its life has been spasmodic.

The first proposition is self evident after an understanding of the purpose and work of the Oratorical Association, as above explained.

The second is equally true. Strong men at the helm have caused this worthy organization to flash before the entire University in ephemeral beauty, and merited popularity, for the brief span of eight months—only to sink into obscurity, and inconsideration for one, two or more years.

DAVIDSON'S STRONG ELEVEN RECEIVES AN EYE-OPENER AT THE HANDS OF MANNING'S POWERFUL MACHINE.

Stetson outclassed Davidson by a safe score last Thursday, which brought much joy to the local enthusiasts, and especially to Coach Manning; and the writer might admit a surprise to himself, for the Davidson team is considered among the big teams of the South—University of North Carolina scoring only thirteen points on them. In addition to this, several of our important players were on the sick list: Red Snedigar being out on account of fever, and Jones being out of game with a lame hip caused the back field to be changed at the last minute, which indicated another defeat for the team—but McDermond and Jackson proved worthy of the places. Although Pete was in the game only a few minutes, he displayed true form, and would have helped to bring home more bacon had he not thought

DELTA ALPHA DELTA

The Delta Alpha Delta girls whose reputation as hostesses has already been established in other years of their existence as a sorority and now fully sustained by the results of the first inter-fraternity social event of the year, were hostesses at an informal tea Tuesday afternoon at four o'clock. Their guests were the girls of the Alpha Kappa Psi Fraternity, the teachers residing in the dormitory, Mrs. Dohm, Miss Berger, and the mothers of the town Delta Alpha Delta girls.

The back parlors of Chaudoin were literally transformed into a veritable banner of autumn beauty and rustic simplicity was the keynote throughout all of the decorations. Over the fireplace, mirror and windows, great boughs of flaming autumn leaves were massed, the bright colors of the natural foliage giving an atmosphere of warmth and burning on the hearth, each casting a red-yellow radiance, enhanced and intensified the appearance and feeling of autumn in the rooms. In the arrangement of countless jardinières apperous and potted plants, much artistic ability was displayed.

A two course luncheon, salad and sand-wiches served upon autumn leaves, tea, cake and after dinner mints was served and needs no further description; otherwise than it was exceedingly artistic and cheerfulness within a pleasing contrast to the coldness outdoors. The chandeliers were entwined with greens, overshadowing the lights and the radiators were entirely hidden by huge clumps of magnolia branches. The most unique and original feature in the decorations were the columns, hung with draperies of Florida moss dotted with brilliant autumn leaves. The lights, shaded with orange crepe paper, and a brisk fire palatable. The refreshments were served by four girls of the sorority, all members of the college graduating class, Misses Lee Bowers, Fay Cribbitt, Harriet Hulley and Nina Phillips, Miss Harriet Hulley presiding with her usual dignity and grace over the tea table which was cosily drawn near by the fire side.

Much credit of the pleasure and the success of the occasion is due to Miss Marjorie Blocker and Miss Ruth Cullen who pleasingly entertained the guests by furnishing music during the afternoon.

he could reap more destruction with his Herculean right arm, which he shoved into right tackle's face after Davidson's tackle had deliberately kicked him on the head. Consequently Pete was disqualified by Referee Forsythe, and later in the game this same Davidson tackle was caught roughing and was likewise disqualified.

With all the unpropitious circumstances of a drenching rain, a small attendance and the battered condition of some of our players, the game opened. It is indeed true that the darkest hour comes just before dawn. Stetson won the toss and kicked off to Davidson, and the ball was advanced twenty-five yards by their R. H. B. Then the battle royal began, and Davidson by lively plunges, in which they exhibited good work, advanced the ball to Stetson's five yard line, where our boys held them for downs, showing their ability when they are in trying circumstances. Shuttleworth then made a fine punt, but by live plunges and end runs, Davidson crosses the goal line, making the first touch-down. After much deliberation and extensive preparations Davidson's "Hebrew" fails to kick goal. Davidson 6, Stetson 0.

Now, in second quarter, the fight really begins, when the team of Stetson Innocents arise in their anger like the slimy serpents that entwined themselves around the helpless body of Laocoon, and come forth like "a bridegroom coming out of his chamber," and rejoicing "as a strong man to run a race." The pig-skin is carried over Davidson's goal by Poun's on a beautiful thirty yard run, and Shuttleworth adds the winning point by kicking goal. End of first half: Stetson 7, Davidson 6.

In the third and fourth quarters Snedigar proves to be the star, carrying the berry over the goal line in a seventy (70) yard dash in third quarter, and again in the fourth quarter by a thirty (30) yard dash. Shuttleworth kicks both goals making the final score: Stetson 21, Davidson 6.

Much commendation is due Merritt and Whidden, who certainly played their roles, quarter-back and center, respectively, better than they have been previously played. The officials, Forsythe, Pyle and Fox, did good work, and special mention should be made of Forsythe's unbiased decisions as referee.

ORATORICAL ASSOCIATION.

Something is wrong somewhere. The wrong is not in the purpose of the Oratorical Association. Its allegations are good—are worthy. Men—and women—young and old, strong and weak—have given their support to the purpose of the Oratorical Association through the years. The wrong is not in the purpose. A Meritorious Purpose is all that kept the Oratorical Association alive. It is all that has resurrected it when it was dormant.

The purpose and allegations of this organization are good even though certain weak points in its foundation render them absurd. For example: The Oratorical Association alleges that it is the Central Organization in this school, and alleges that all inter-society and inter-scholastic contests shall be arranged through it. And yet it is not recognized in the Constitution, nor even the by-laws, of a single literary society in Stetson. HOW ABSURD! Alleging that which it has no authority to enforce.

But it is Alleging that which it should have authority to enforce.

The Stetson Oratorical Association bears the same relation to the literary societies of this school that the Continental Congress bore to the States of this Nation in the early days of our country—it could legislate and order; but, however wise the legislation and orders, it had no power to enforce same.

In those days a new organization was necessary. So it is with us. We should not change our plan, purpose, nor allegations. But we should reorganize in such a way as to sustain all of these.

In the early days they formed the Union—so should we. It corrected the wrong and put our nation on a firm basis—so it will our literary work.

The first step necessary to put the Oratorical Association on a firm and consistent basis is recognition from each Literary Society in Stetson.

An uniform constitutional amendment should be embodied in each and every literary Constitution in Stetson.

There should be perfect Mutuality between the Oratorical Association and the various societies. It is as essential as mutuality between friends. This Association is a friend to all literary societies now in existence or hereafter to be organized with the approval of the President and Faculty of Stetson.

The central organization should be based on the literary societies—not upon individuals. The literary societies are primarily for individuals. The Oratorical Association is primarily for the literary societies and all they represent.

As soon as the new plan of organization is perfected the Oratorical Association proposes to resume its annual work. Next term it will have the Declamatory Contest for young women and an Inter-Society debate. Later in the year the Oratorical Contest for young men will be held.

A new feature will be inaugurated. This organization proposes to encourage a bi-monthly meeting of all the literary societies. This meeting is to be of especial dignity; is to be under the auspices of the Oratorical Association; is to be in the Auditorium or some other commodious and central place; is to be announced to the entire town and printed programmes are to be distributed. This is to be a broader field for oratorical effort. It will be an honor to participate in one of these programmes. Thus it will stimulate members to more zealous efforts in each society that they may appear on a programme in this larger sphere.

Let each society adopt the amendment that is soon to be presented. Adopt it intact, so every society will bear the same relation to the Oratorical Association.

There is an Englishman about the school who closely resembles a whale.

Why?

Because he is always blowing.

Who? Echo answers, "Who?"

LAW DEPARTMENT

This is a good year for Stetson in general, and for its College of Law, in particular. The faculty rejoice that there are forty-four (44) students in the regular class, all taking straight work, and in addition to these, there are ten or a dozen more men pursuing special courses. The number of men with college degrees is larger than ever before. In short, we have by far the biggest law school that there has ever been in the State.

The library of the Law School is now larger than ever before with one hundred and sixty volumes of Federal Statutes, and a Digest of the Laws of England which will soon be installed. From time to time, documents of value will be added, until the library is perfected entirely. The law library is now probably the best in the State.

During the year, two or three Supreme Court Judges will probably address the Law Students. We understand that Judge Parkhill is favorably considering to speak at an early date. Dr. Lampkin is much interested in the Law School, and is a great help in the Kent Club. The Kent Club is a literary society composed of prospective lawyers only. Mr. Anderson of the Senior Class is president.

The enthusiasm and earnest effort of the students make promise of a banner year for Prof. Rascoe. He is putting his best into the work, and accordingly the department is "all smiles." We've got the teachers, we've got the school, we've got the reputation, and we are going to have a bigger law class every year, until, in desperation, the trustees vote to erect a special building for Stetson's lawyer boys (and girls)!

PROHIBITION ASSOCIATION

The President of the Prohibition Association calls your attention to the Oratorical article from the President of the Oratorical Association. The Prohibition Oratorical Contest will be held next term. Here is a rare opportunity to those who have oratorical ability. Here is a chance to win the medals and win National fame, aside from the fact that a good work is being done.

Mr. Shuttleworth recently expressed his opinion that the Y. W. C. A. was doing a noble work and that it was his sincere desire that a Y. W. C. A. Convention be held at Stetson each year.

Entered at Post Office at DeLand, Fla., as second-class mail matter. Published weekly during school year by the students.

Contributions from students and alumni are earnestly solicited. They should be written in a legible hand.

Address all articles to editor.

Make all checks payable to manager.

From the encouragement received from so many students and organizations concerning our last issue, the editorial staff finds itself eager to get out this issue on the same basis. We fully appreciate your good wishes for a most successful year and in order to show you this we give below some of the plans now under advisement. We expect to give a short story in every 1913 number of the Collegiate. At first these will consist of Coyotes in Montana, or "The Wild and Wooly West," by Frank Wideman, "A Motorcycle Trip from Philadelphia to Florida," by D. Gordon Haynes, and "Stoking Across the Atlantic," by Pete McDermond. Then the Short Story Contest and Poetry Contest will furnish us with ample material for the rest of the year. In the story and poetry contest, we are glad to say that prizes will be awarded to the best writers. Full particulars will be given later. Watch next week's paper for further plans.

And Football is over. Let's plan for next year.

Who's who, and why? See Saturday Evening Post.

We are inclined to call this week's issue an Oratorical Number, from the mere fact that we have so much oratorical material this week. Next week we will have an Athletic Number, and then the next week a Musical Number.

One of the liveliest organizations is the Y. W. C. A. The recent Y. W. C. A. State Council was a great success. We call your especial attention to an account of this in this paper. The editor had the pleasure of meeting Miss Burner, of the National, Miss Porter, of the Virginias and Carolinas, and Miss Powell, of Georgia and Florida, and obtained from each an article on their stay at Stetson. See what others think of us.

WHO SAID SO?

The Athletic Association showed its true spirit of squareness and good will, when it sent greetings to the Y. W. C. A. State Council Friday evening, and invited the members to be its guests at the Lyceum event, J. Franklin Caveny, after the meeting on that evening was adjourned.

This year the Association has done its best to produce a good football team; and the results of the games show that its efforts have not been in vain. The Association has also given us a schedule of which we should be proud and at the same time for which we should be thankful. It has the will and purpose and we strongly urge everybody to pull for the Association.

Friday evening J. Franklin Caveny and Mrs. Caveny appeared at the University Auditorium, as the second number on our Lyceum Course. This number consisted wholly of entertainment, and was attended by a small but representative and appreciative audience.

Mr. Caveny appeared first as a Cartoonist, and as he was in an humorous mood, he pictured something "almost touching"—lovers ready to kiss. He then illustrated himself as an Artist, when he first learned to draw—from a bottle. And then, coming down to something more material, we saw the "darkness which preceded the dawn," and in the same picture the evening, "just as the sun went down," and then sat "in the evening by the moonlight."

Next the entertainer appeared in his white coat as a Clay Modeler or as a Clay Muddler, as he termed himself. We were at home with Shakespeare, who was as "Constant as the northern star" and a man "whose life was gentle, and the elements so mixed in him that nature might stand up and say to all the world "This was a man." We assure you that "this was not Greek to us." Then we lived with the personage to whom "the world offers homage."

Mrs. Caveny's vocal solos added much to the program. She is a very beautiful woman and her songs captured all.

The evening ended when Mr. Caveny illustrated with his crayons Home Sweet Home and My Old Kentucky Home as they were sung by Mrs. Caveny. The entertainment was first class, and everybody enjoyed it very much.

The students and towns-people are missing something good in these numbers. The entire course is full of the best; let all make use of these opportunities to hear and see the best.

EUSOPHIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

Promptly at the appointed hour with the August Mr. Brass in the chair to wield the gavel, we Eusophians opened our meeting last Saturday night. For awhile there was great consternation in our ranks owing to the absence of our secretary, but finally she appeared and peace was once more restored.

The program dealt with the Scandinavian drama, and was exceedingly interesting and well rendered. It was as follows:

Bjoensen Bjoenstern—Miss Carr.

Life and Works of Steindberg—Miss Vorce.

Ibsen, The Dramatist—Miss Padgett.

Owing to the spiritual and intellectual refreshments which we were later to receive from the Y. W. C. A., the business meeting was dispensed with.

STETSON LITERARY SOCIETY

The Stetson Literary Society met in its room in Science Hall on Saturday evening at 6:30. The following program was rendered:

Domestic Current Events—Miss Peterson.

Foreign Current events—Miss Stiles.

An article about our Next President—Mr. Hulley.

The present state of Affairs in the Chinese Republic—Miss Coleman.

Debate—Resolved, That Roosevelt is a Greater Man than Taft.

Affirmative—Mr. Baggett and Mr. Patillo.

Judges rendered their decision two to one in favor of the negative.

Parliamentary Practice—Mr. Hulley.

Critics Report—Miss Davis served as a critic and the society wants to thank her for the kindness rendered.

The meeting was an enjoyable one. All that were present enjoyed themselves very much.

Uncle Daniel Blocker spent Sunday in Winter Garden and Mr. Milton Perry preached in Sanford upon the same day.

SMILEY-HON.

The wedding of the season, the marriage of Miss Ruth Hon and Mr. Alfred Smiley, took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Hon, November twenty-second at twelve-thirty o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Owens of the Baptist church and the only guests present were the intimate friends of the contracting parties.

In honor of the occasion the attractive home had been decorated until it indeed much resembled fairyland itself. The deep bay recess was entirely covered with a solid green bank of ferns and plants, forming a picturesque background for the bridal party and directly in front of this verdant mass was constructed an arch, entwined with white roses, from the center of which hung a wedding bell. Under this bell, fashioned with white carnations and having a single American Beauty rose, for its clapper, the marriage took place.

Miss Addie Grace Waterman opened the event by singing "Because," by Guy D'Hardelot, accompanied by Mr. Ruskin Roseborough, and at the close of the song, Mr. Roseborough began the sweet strains of that never-old music, "Mendelssohn's Wedding March." Little Lois Hon and Ray Hon, as flower girl and ring bearer, and the maid of honor, Miss Gladys Hon, the sister of the bride, preceded the bridal couple—the entire procession finally standing beneath the white wedding bell.

Much impressiveness and solemnity was added to the service by the music of the "Hearts and Flowers" softly played throughout.

The gown of the bride was white satin with draperies of embroidered net, en traine, and a white tulle veil caught up with orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of white bride's roses and fern. The maid of honor, who came from Shorter College where she is attending college, at Rome, Georgia to be present at the wedding, was dressed in yellow chiffon suit and carried Marche Neil roses.

Immediately following the ceremony, the entire party of guests were conveyed in automobiles to Beresford to send the bride and groom off amid showers of rice and confetti and serenades in which a song composed for the occasion ("Ruth and Alfred," sung to the tune of J. B. S. U.) figured largely. Mrs. Smiley then threw her bouquet from the upper deck of the steamer to girls on the deck below.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Smiley are well remembered and much loved Stetson students and we all send with them our heartiest congratulations.

Last Sunday's Vesper service was devoted to Missions. Dr. Hulley took for his text the well known passage referring to the woman who hid the leaven in three measures of meal and let it stay until the whole was leavened. Most appropriate music was beautifully rendered by Miss Allen and Miss Buttorff.

Dr. Hulley took up missions in the United States. He went back to the historic times when the Pilgrims of the Mayflower landed on the shores of Massachusetts; when the Dutch settled New York; when the English Roman Catholics made settlements in Maryland; when the Cavaliers of Virginia became known; and when the Swedes, Germans and French rose up. He truly showed how the missionary spirit was present in our country from the beginning, because the missionary spirit was the working spirit, by which the Indians were converted.

We then saw that the next great missionary movement was the founding of colleges and universities, for at first these were intended primarily to prepare men to preach the Gospel. We saw Williams and Mary's College formed in Virginia, Harvard, in Massachusetts, Yale, in Connecticut, Dartmouth, in New Hampshire, Brown, in Rhode Island, Princeton in New Jersey and others scattered all over the United States.

The speaker then mentioned the fact that by missions, in teaching the Fatherhood of God, the Brotherhood of man and Salvation through Christ, more than 1,000,000 foreigners are reformed every year, upon reaching our shores. He showed that there are already enough organizations at work, but the way to accomplish more is to increase their leavening power.

Next Sunday.

The Constitution will be the theme of next Sunday's Vesper Service. This subject will be discussed two more times.

 X MRS. WIDEMAN'S KIND OFFER X
 XXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXX

Some of the men of the Athletic Association have been uneasy as to the financial outcome of the Lyceum Course. This, however, need not be of any import, for Mr. Wideman in giving the merits of the Alkahest attractions said to the committee, that Mrs. Wideman had promised to put on a play and make up any deficit arising from the course.

We all know Mrs. Wideman's ability and success as a play promoter, and we certainly should thank her as an association for her kind offer, through Mr. Wideman.

STETSON 42—GORDON 7

Thursday afternoon a large crowd of local football enthusiasts gathered at the Athletic Field to witness the last game of the Season. About four weeks ago our team copped the game from Riverside 26 to 3, and about one week ago Gordon copped the game from Riverside by a score of 12 to 7.

This showed our team that they were up against a good proposition, and they went into the game to make the last game one with a big score. Stetson played excellent ball, and it was only on a "fuke" that Gordon was allowed to fall on the ball back of our goal.

As next week's issue is a special Athletic number, we will give a full account of the game then.

LOCALS.

Miss Rosella Martin was the guest of honor at a dinner given by Miss Harkness Friday evening at her home on New York Avenue. The others enjoying her hospitality at that time were the Misses Stephens, Barron and Taylor.

The Episcopalian choir and the Chaudoin girls of that church were very charmingly entertained on Wednesday afternoon at the recory by Mrs. Hincks. They all hope that an invitation to tea may always mean for them such a host of good things. Everyone joined in singing the praises of Mrs. Hincks as a hostess and of Father Roche as a waiter. Those lucky enough to have been there were Misses Sidway, Willard, Campbell, Bowers, King, Quincy Smith, Ross, Barron, Wise, Lewis, Hinsky, Reade, and the Mrs. Owens and Stetson.

Miss Clella Avery and Miss Enid Broward were the guests of Miss Wideman in town Sunday night.

Sned says he does not know the definition for a sport but Seagroat and Shuttleworth certainly must belong to that class, for a visiting Y. W. girl said so.

When Uncle Dan asked for a second plate of butter at dinner a verdant and irrepressible freshman asked:

"Uncle Dan, what is the difference between a man that eats butter and one that does not?"

Uncle Dan—"I don't know."

Freshman—"From twenty to forty pounds."

Goldsmith asked if, "be" were a conjunction or a preposition. Answer and receive reward.

STATE COUNCIL CLOSES

The meeting of the Florida Student Council of Young Women's Christian Association closed successfully on Sunday evening. The representatives at the conference were the Misses Mitchell and Hoyt of the State College for Women, Misses Booth and Baugh of Southern College, and the Misses Daniels, Avery, Corre, Bellows, Ely, Broward and Clarke of Rollins College. These young women brought much into the Council, giving us the very best help from their respective associations.

The leaders of the Council were Miss Oolooah Burner, traveling secretary of the National Board of the Y. W. C. A., Misses Mary F. Porter and Mary D. Powell, traveling secretaries of the South Atlantic Committee of Y. W. C. A., and Miss Ethel J. McCoy, volunteer worker.

RECEPTION

Last Saturday afternoon from four to five the young Women's Christian Association entertained the ladies of the town at a reception given in honor of the guests of the State Council. The receiving line was composed of the President, the members of the Advisory Board, and the visiting secretaries. Chaudoin looked its best, decorated, as it was, with palms, ferns, and moss. In the back parlor the poster display aroused much interest, while the punch bowls, presided over by Miss Bowers, was also a popular place. Near the close of the hour Miss Burner, the Field Secretary of the National Council of the Y. W. C. A., spoke of the value of the association in the lives of all girls.

The afternoon ended in the Auditorium, where Professor Phillips entertained the guests, assisted by the Misses Baker, Eldredge and Buttrif.

M. R's OF S. W.

The regular weekly meeting of the M. R's of S. W. was held Monday evening. Owing to the absence of Secretary Roberts on account of sickness, business was much impeded. Several important business matters were taken up but which, because they were secret, could not be given to the Collegiate representative. Here's for their success.
